Many of our concepts on multiply committed relationships come from Heinlein's Stranger in a Strange Land and Moon is a Harsh Mistress. Live the Dream also sponsors a nest of Church of All Worlds, the real life, over fifty year old spiritual movement inspired by Stranger in a Strange Land.

Freedom and the Free State Project/Politics and Polyamory with Paul Gibbons

Paul shares with us how the Free State Project is progressing . This is a group of Libertarian types who have moved to New Hampshire with a view towards effecting laws and the way they are enforced in that area. Some of them have already been successful in getting elected to political offices in New Hampshire. Paul attends this group's convention each year, so he can give us a current report on this Libertarian "take over" (?) of the state of New Hampshire.

Monogamy and monopoly have a few things in common. We call it the 'unified field theory' of interpersonal relationships. Once we start realizing that voluntarism and respect are universal standards to be applied to all human (sentient) relationships, from global (or even intergalactic!) to the intimate, we will stop creating the thorny problems we are currently facing such as jealousy as an accepted reality, wars which do not solve anything, getting taxed out of business, and victimless crimes filling our prisons. The introduction of arbitrary rules such as 'we need taxes to do good works' or 'you should be upset at your lover for being 'unfaithful' to you' that conflicts with the principles of respect, non-aggression and your own conscience will create conflict within you and conflict in your love relationships. Let's discover how to move from conflict to Freedom to JOY! Read Heinlein's the Moon is a Harsh Mistress (can be called the Libertarian Manifesto!) to see this (Paul's) Philosophy put in practical & functional terms!

Pot luck Lunch 1 pm

2 pm: Mary Teague, poly and pagan most of her adult life and involved with Live the Dream since its inception in 1987, recently had a diagnosis of liver cancer rapidly heading towards death. About a month later that diagnosis was completely reversed.

How did she do it? What was it like to move fast to achieve those things on her bucket list? How will this experience affect her future and her relationships? Join us today and find out! Also, we will all have a chance to share what we have learned along the way and what we would most like to learn in the future particularly about RELATIONSHIP JOY...

Meet Your Parallel Selves at Conscious Life Expo at the LAX Hilton Hotel Room: Century A. Come see Terry do one of her presentations!

Free with Friday Day Pass or go to www.consciouslifeexpo.com for more details on the Expo or to http://consciouslifeexpo.com/-2017-lectures/terry_lee_brussel.html for the direct writeup on Terry's presentation.

Have you ever wondered what your life would have been like if you had made different choices at certain most important moments on your personal path? Terry Lee Brussel CHT discusses the parallel selves who are, even now, living the lives resulting from those different choices.

What if at each such choice point we create an alternate reality which actually exists from that time forth? A reality which most of us are entirely unaware? I believe that we do create such alternate selves in very different realities many times in our lives. I have followed in my awareness some of my alternate selves over several years, watching some of them grow, change and become versions of myself whom I scarcely recognize while others are living their lives in ways very similar to my own. It has helped me to learn more about who I am and what makes me that way. In recent years, I have developed the ability to see the possible results of different choices at the time I am actually making them. This particular psychic ability has saved me from making some serious mistakes in this reality. It may help you as well.

Terry is a reader of past and parallel lives as well as a hypnotherapist in private practice since 1969. She is the creator of the Seven Keys to Self Actualization and the Seven Key Turn Key System for building a successful hypnotherapy practice.

Note: Ayn Rand herself was poly, though her characters are presented as monogamous. If she were writing today, perhaps that would have been different...

WHAT IF AYN RAND HAD MADE HER CHARACTERS AS POLY AS SHE WAS?

Dagny Taggart deeply loved three men in her life—great men who could live up to her greatness. Francisco was her first teen love who she adored with a passion and who shared with her the knowledge that sexual love was something to be gloried in without shame or guilt. Something which it was right for these two free spirited youths (with world changing destinies) to learn from each other. Francisco loved Dagny his whole life long, though he spent many years apart from her pretending to be a play boy for purposes having nothing to do with romance and everything to do with Brains on Strike. She thought her relationship with him was over for many years before her love was again IGNITED with Industrialist Hank Reardon. It was she who helped him realize he had a right to delight in his sexuality and that his choice of her as his Lady was in complete alignment with the other excellent values which made him the Business Man she so respected. Finally, there was John Galt the brilliant Inventor of a motor which could gift the world with limitless energy—at the price of respect for the mind which created it. It was to him she finally gave her heart and her body to the exclusion of Hank and Francisco who continued to love her and they were compassionately understanding of this Highest choice of the man both of them loved and followed. A beautiful story... of ENTIRELY NEEDLESS sacrifices by characters that supposedly had learned not to make sacrifices created by an author who knew better!

Dagny Taggart could have found John Galt, realized that Francisco had behaved honorably in all the years they were apart holding his love for her as a sacred fire within him. Since Francisco loved and was deeply committed to John already, a triad between the three of them could have worked out perfectly. When Francisco found her miraculously alive in the Valley, she could have told him all that she felt with complete honesty, letting him know that there was room for both him and John to be her primary partners. Later, Hank could have been added either as a live in lover for Dagny or as a beloved non residential secondary partner always welcome in their home. No one gets hurt. There was certainly enough of Dagny living, breathing and willing to satisfy the desires of men who had lived mostly with only their fantasies of her to sustain them for many years. The love and respect all the men involved had for each other would make jealousy unlikely and (if it did come up) something to be dealt with like any other emotional illness rather than something to base one's life on. Had John and Francisco offered her this option, she might have been so happily engaged in carrying it out that she would have stayed in the Valley her first time there.

Dagny could even have had a child by John and then by each of the others if they wanted one. Additionally, John, Francisco and Hank might want to consider spreading their excellent genetic materials (and their unbridled affections) to other fine Ladies who were available in John's Gulch...

Think about it; Limits on wealth and production were unacceptable, but limits on Love were unexamined and unchallenged. The very people who did not take what the Experts said to be so as a given in their businesses and their political lives had swallowed hook, line and sinker the looting of that most precious aspect of living—romantic Love and Joy.

How many unexamined ass-umptions are you carrying around to mess up your life?

Free State Project ‘Triggers the Move’: 20,000 Libertarians to Move to New Hampshire in Next 5 Years

What kind of impact will 20,000 liberty-loving people make when they move to a small state, like New Hampshire? The country will soon find out.

MANCHESTER, NH (PRWEB) FEBRUARY 03, 2016: As of today, The Free State Project is the most successful intentional migration movement in American history. This is because today the organization has announced that 20,000 participants have signed the Statement of Intent to move to New Hampshire, where they will “exert their fullest practical effort toward the creation of a society in which the maximum role of government is the protection of individuals’ rights to life, liberty and property.”

The 20,000 mark is significant, because it ‘triggers the move’ – the mass migration of the Free State Project participants who have all agreed to move to New Hampshire within the next five years. So far, almost 2,000 have already relocated to the state.

“In the last few months, using various social media targeting tools, we expanded our audience and a significant number of new people signed the pledge,” says Carla Gericke, President of the Free State Project. “Early movers have already made their mark on the Granite State by passing life-saving drug reform legislation, expanding school choice and protecting first amendment rights – this has drawn in a whole new crowd of participants. Just imagine what can be accomplished with 10 times as many people.”

Since the first early movers flocked to New Hampshire, Free State Project participants have followed their individual passions to the center of some of the state’s most contentious political fights. They were instrumental in organizing resistance to Real ID in 2008, legalizing same-sex marriage through the legislature in 2009, and establishing a medical cannabis program in 2013.

The Free State Project started in 2001 with an essay by Jason Sorens, who was then a graduate student at Yale. Sorens, who is now a lecturer at Dartmouth College, theorized that if 20,000 committed activists moved to a single state with a small enough population, they could push policy and culture in a more free, open direction. In 2003, early participants chose New Hampshire as the state to migrate to. Now that the move has been triggered, the Free State Project will continue the effort to attract more participants, and inspire signers to move to the Live Free or Die state sooner rather than later.

"I'm thrilled by how far the Free State Project has come since the essay I wrote 15 years ago. Freedom lovers from around the country have turned concept into reality by moving to New Hampshire and building all kinds of exciting efforts to secure liberty and prosperity for all--efforts I could never have imagined back in 2001. Good ideas are powerful, and the idea of freedom is spurring many thousands of Americans to commit to move to the Granite State for a better life."

“This is the culmination of over a decade of grassroots and volunteer work, and I am thrilled to be announcing that the Free State Project has surpassed the 20,000 signer mark,” says Gericke. “Early movers are bringing their businesses, families and charities with them to New Hampshire – not to mention disposable income. So far we’ve purchased more than $30 million in real estate alone, and I can’t wait to see what kind of larger impact will be made as a result of individual efforts within this growing and thriving community.”
